

OFFENSE REPORTS[™]

Tomorrow's Integrated Information System

asyst:Offense Reports is a fully featured offense reports entry and tracking system designed to allow after-the-fact entry of offense reports and follow-up information about them. If asyst:CFS is in use, offense reports information can be copied from the call for service form and offense reports numbered the same as the CFS number. asyst:Offense Reports provides an integrated set of programs and tables that allow you to enter and track information about all offense reports, including:

- The type of location
- The incident times and description
- The parties involved (interfacing directly to the asyst:MNI module)
- The property involved
- The officers dispatched
- Virtually unlimited user-defined information
- Plus both internal and media narratives (including spell checking) asyst:Offense Reports is highly flexible, with virtually all coded information definable or modifiable by the user.

asyst:Offense Reports provides a number of valuable functions:

- Generates offense report numbers based on your rules.
- Tracks report date, the time (or time range) the crime was committed.
- Allows an unlimited number of officers to be involved with the offense report.
- Tracks all of the involved parties, including reporting parties, victims, witnesses, offenders, and arrested individuals.
- Provides the ability to record an unlimited number of user-defined characteristics.
- Maintains an unlimited amount of narrative information about the offense, both for internal use and for media distribution.
- Maintains user-defined offense report status.
- Provides built in spell checking for all data entered.
- Ability to lock records after they have been approved.

asyst:Offense Reports is part of a comprehensive system of individual asyst application that can be mixed and matched to meet the most exacting needs of your organization. The asyst family operates in either a single user or networked PC environment. Despite its ease of use and value pricing, asyst:Offense Reports is packed with features that will make your work life easier and more efficient.
